Hello! I am very excited and honored to be the Chapter Chair of SEM. I’m grateful to the previous Chairs and Executive Committees for their hard work and organization, especially to Cheryl Lathrop. I plan to build onto their successes with the help of our many wonderful volunteer leaders and officers.

December starts the season of winter fun. If you’ve always wanted to be more active in the winter, now is the time to check our list of trips and join us for one. Our trained volunteer leaders are waiting to show you the beauty of winter.

We are always looking for new leaders and new volunteers. Meet some great people who love the outdoors. Feel free to contact me if you’d like to volunteer, make a suggestion or just introduce yourself.

See you outdoors!

Activity Participation Policy

"AMC encourages involvement in its mission and activities, through its membership, programs, policies and procedures. Our goal is to be a community that is comfortable, inviting and accessible for people of any age, gender, race, religion, ethnicity, ability, sexual orientation, or socioeconomic status. Some AMC programs are designed for a certain age range of members or for a special activity or topic. However, any person who meets the minimum qualifications (skills, experience, fitness) established by the trip leader(s) for an activity is eligible to attend, if space is available."experience, fitness) established by the trip leader(s) for an activity is eligible to attend, if space is available.
AMC SEM is always looking for volunteers to volunteer a little or a lot. Contact the chapter chair at chair@amcsem.org if you'd like to volunteer. We have outdoorsy opportunities (e.g., leading a hike); we also have indoorsy opportunities (e.g., web work, arranging events). Something for everyone!

News from the Communications Committee

Meet Mark St. John
Recently I was elected as the Vice Chair of the Communication’s Committee for the AMCSEM. For the past fifteen years I served various roles in the IT department of a specialty retailer in the Boston area – most recently as the Director of IT. I am hopeful that I can bring some of my expertise to AMCSEM to streamline technology and make the experience for the end-users and the administrators a more fulfilling online engagement. I have been a member of AMC for several years and have participated in the WFA course that was presented in 2013. In addition to this I have done considerable hiking in the area completing both the Appalachian Trail (thru-hike) and the Long Trail (section-hike) in 2014 and the NH 48 4,000 footers in 2012. I continue hiking as often as I can get out and will continue my quest of the NH ‘Winter’ 48 4,000 footers this year. I am a member of the Appalachian Mountain Club, Appalachian Trail Conservancy, Green Mountain Club and Appalachian Long Distance Hiker Association. You can reach me at communicationsvicechair@amcsem.org.
Annual Winter Hiking Workshop Draws a Crowd
By Paul Miller, SEM Hiking Committee Chair

The SEM Hiking Committee held our annual Winter Hiking Workshop in Sandwich on Nov. 1, 2014 (prior to the Annual Meeting and Dinner in Onset). Approximately 30 curious people with a wide variety of hiking backgrounds participated in this successful workshop, which was possible thanks largely to the efforts of SEM winter hike leaders Leslie Carson, Mike Woessner, Walt Granda, and Eva Borsody Das; plus Sue and Kevin Mulligan (who put on a dynamite winter hiking slide show).

The program covered appropriate clothing, gear, hydration/nutrition, and conditioning for safe and enjoyable winter hiking in the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

Participation in this (or an equivalent) workshop is a prerequisite for hikers without prior winter hiking experience to register for the 2014-15 SEM Winter Hiking Series. This season’s series includes trips to Mt. Wachusetts in Princeton, MA; Mt. Kearsarge North in North Conway, NH; Mts. Tom and Field in Crawford Notch, NH; and a winter overnight trip to the AMC Zealand Falls Hut in NH.

Wilderness First Aid Training November 8 and 9, 2014
at Chapel Meeting House

By Doug Griffiths

Say you are a couple miles up the trail. What would you do if a member of your hiking group tripped and seriously sprained their ankle, or maybe even broke their ankle? How about if you are confronted with someone having an asthma attack or reaction to a bee sting? What if you came across someone who just had a bad fall from the steep cliff trail they were scrambling up, their leg doesn't look very good, or worse, they are unconscious? Don't freak out, take a deep breath and recall your wilderness first aid training.

This two-day, concentrated but manageable course, gives you a systematic approach to assessing the scene, the circumstances, the injury and the response that you can offer when rapid professional intervention is an hour or more away.

Twenty two people, most of them AMC members, took advantage of the most recent wilderness first aid training at the charming and convenient Chapel Meeting House in the Cocasset River Recreation Area in Foxboro, MA. Beautiful weather allowed us to focus completely on the hands-on training opportunities, much of which takes place outside.

Led by an instructor from SOLO (Stonehearth Open Learning Opportunities), a wilderness medicine school in Conway, NH, the course involves about equal parts of lecture, followed by practice scenarios, feedback and discussion. Participants trade off roles as victims and rescuers for practical experience. Even the victims get instructed how to act out their injuries for true realism. It's fun, exciting and serious all at the same time. As a rescuer, your heart rate increases just as it would in a real life situation. There is ample time to discuss and process the practice scenarios. SOLO has been providing these trainings to AMCSEM for several years, and our instructor for this course, Kathryn, was dynamic and engaging.

The curriculum for the course has been carefully prepared by SOLO and includes instruction in assessing the scene for safety, assessing the patient for both critical and less critical injuries, obtaining necessary background information, and then providing comfort and treatment with whatever resources you may have on hand in the backcountry. Attention is paid to developing a rescue plan, managing the safety and anxiety of the rest of your group as you wait for or travel towards more definitive treatment. There is a specific framework for these assessments and plans that is outlined in an excellent, easy-to-read, illustrated text that is provided to all participants.
Wilderness first aid training is required for current and prospective AMC hike leaders, but is a great experience for anyone who enjoys outdoor recreation including hikers, bikers, paddlers, skiers, campers and families. This course increases your confidence and so increases your enjoyment of all those activities. It's fun to meet new faces from outside the chapter who take advantage of the training. This course included fifteen SEM members, three Boston chapter members and four non-AMC'ers. Naturally, WFA participants are outdoor enthusiasts who have their own stories and tips for great trips and destinations.

The skills learned in wilderness first aid are most helpful when two or more people involved in a group activity have experienced this training. Using teamwork when confronting a situation multiplies the level of care, the degree of calmness, and the confidence brought to bear. Keep an eye out for future offerings. You won't regret it!

Earn An AMC SEM Patch In Conservation!

The AMC SEM Conservation Committee is proposing to offer a patch for conservation-related activities, similar to earning a patch for climbing all 4000 footers in the White Mountains or riding a bike for 2000 miles. To earn a patch, participants would need to complete any 10 activities from the 18 listed below, but at least one from each of the six categories. Ideally, you would not pick an activity that you already do, and each activity should be done whenever possible, but for at least one year. Should you have your own ideas for an activity within a category, feel free to substitute, but please let the Conservation Committee know in advance. Completing the activities as a family or group is fine, as long as everyone participates. We will establish a central location to update progress. Here are the categories and the activities in each:

Conservation Activism

- Write an elected official about a conservation-related topic
- Read a book about conservation and write a summary for AMC SEM Breeze
- Teach ‘Leave No Trace’ principles to a local group

Environmental Activism

- Spend at least a day doing trail work maintenance
- Participate in conservation-related events, such as clean-ups, walks or lectures
- Plant native plants around your home that require less water and pesticide

Health Activism

- Walk or ride a bike on one errand or commute per week
- Replace one grocery item with an organic or locally-grown item per week
- Use organic fertilizer and pesticide

Energy Conservation

- Thermostat: not higher than 63 degrees F in winter, not lower than 78 F in summer
- Always turn off unnecessary lights and appliances
- Take stairs rather than elevators

Water Conservation

- Collect rain water to use for watering lawn and garden
- Take shorter showers
- Use gray water to flush toilets
Waste Reduction

- Compost kitchen and yard waste
- Use reusable bags at stores other than grocery stores
- Reduce household waste disposal by 10%

Reducing household waste by 10% might sound a bit tricky to accomplish. Here is our thought: each person should estimate how much trash they dispose of per week e.g. "my trash can is always 3/4 full", and then etch or paint a line about 10% below that. Then each week, try to get close to the line. It is imperfect, but we are trying to instill a way of thinking related to reducing, reusing and recycling as opposed to strict rules.

Please let us know what you think about the idea of a Conservation Patch and the specific activities by emailing the Conservation Committee at conservationvicechair@amcsem.org. We may change the activities depending on feedback. We hope to begin the program in 2015. As the recent U.N. IPCC report highlighted, now is the time to focus on conservation/environment issues/climate change!

Sincerely,

AMC SEM Conservation Committee

Come to August Camp 2015
in Oregon’s Beautiful Central Cascade Mountains

August Camp 2015 will take place in the Three Sisters Wilderness area in the Central Cascades of Oregon, southwest of Portland. This area offers terrific hiking and fascinating geological sites. Studded with volcanic peaks, mountain lakes, wildflower meadows, lava tubes and obsidian, miles of beautiful hiking trails, including the Pacific Crest Trail and the Three Sisters Wilderness Area -- it’s legendary for a reason! In addition to the multiple hikes August Camp offers each day for all levels of ability, other activities may include car camping at Crater Lake National Park, backpacking, sightseeing excursions, river rafting, canoeing and kayaking. Delicious cooked meals and trail lunches are provided; great camaraderie and nightly campfire make for a memorable experience. This full service tent village accommodates 64 campers each week, and the fleet of rental vans provides transportation to trailheads, as well as between camp and the airport (Portland International) each Saturday.

The Application and Camper information forms, as well as detailed Camp information can found on the August Camp website at www.augustcamp.org. Plan your one or two week adventure now and be part of one of the AMC's oldest traditions.

Applications will be accepted after Jan. 1, 2015.
Week 1: July 18 - July 25
Week 2: July 25- Aug 1
Week 3: Aug 1- Aug 8
Week 4: Aug 8 - Aug 15

AMC NH Chapter Winter School
Two sessions Jan 30-Feb. 1, and Feb. 27-March 1 2015

This workshop offers instruction in winter mountain travel to backcountry skiers and snowshoers of all levels, covering just about every aspect of winter backcountry travel. The weekend is filled with instruction, field exercises, lectures and discussions. And there will be plenty of great food to fuel you back up!

Choose from one of the following classes:
• Introduction to Winter Mountain Travel: beginner and intermediate classes. Instruction in safety equipment, route finding, map and compass, off-trail navigation, weather, trip planning, nutrition and emergencies in the mountain environment.

• Backcountry Skiing: beginner, intermediate and Down-mountain Backcountry classes.

• Advanced winter wilderness travel, high peaks and crampons.

• Winter backpacking: beginner in January, intermediate class in February. Instruction in backpacking equipment, campsite selection, route finding, map and compass, weather, trip planning, cooking and emergencies. For those who want to take their skills beyond day hiking. Plan to spend Friday and Saturday night outdoors and provide for your own backpacking equipment.
• Leadership and Mountain Skills: For those who have good winter hiking and/or skiing skills, and wish to enhance them to run trips of their own. Exercises in planning, organizing and conducting trips with emphasis on leadership techniques and group dynamics. Plus the basics of accident scene management, medical considerations and off-trail navigation.

Not sure which class is right for you? Just ask Workshop Director Rick Silverberg at (603) 225-5921. You must be 18 years or older to attend. Cost is $150 for AMC members and $170 for non-members, and includes lodging, excellent meals, materials and instruction.

Workshop begins at 7:30 p.m. on Friday and ends at 4 p.m. Sunday.

For more information go to www.amc-nh.org

AMC Activity Digests

Find out about new chapter activities the day they are posted!

Don’t have time to search AMC’s or your chapter’s website? Can’t wait for your weekly digest? Good news! You can now receive a daily update of newly posted chapter activities via e-mail. You can be notified of upcoming chapter activities by chapter, activity area, or region.
